

KF36 Meeting Questions

Facilitator Tip: This lesson is about endurance and how productive endurance benefits us and those around us. As a facilitator, one of your challenges will be to endure silence as the group thinks about a question or the lesson. You will also have to endure the fumbling and lack of skill that members of the group—including yourself!—display. Practice endurance during the meeting and show by your example that in KF we are patient with silence and mistakes. We can endure with compassion while we grow.

Ask whichever questions are of interest to you. After someone responds to a question, you can ask the group if anyone else feels the same or has had a similar experience.

Mindfulness and Meditation

- How do you feel about running with endurance the challenge set before you?
- How has your ability to be mindful in the present moment changed through your KF training?
- What does the image of a winner's crown mean to you?

Toolbox

- Are you surprised about how much effort it takes to change your life?
- What surprising changes have you experienced in your life since you began KF?
- How do the outcomes of KF training and the effort involved compare with other training programs that you have tried?
- In your KF training, what has been the toughest thing to endure?
- How could KF itself become something to endure?
- Has your ability to endure improved since you have been training in KF?

Sharing

(You can ask any of the questions from the Toolbox or Meditation sections)

- What are you enduring right now?
- What lets you know that you are in a season of endurance?
- In your KF training, what has been the toughest thing to endure?

Bible Teaching

- Why do you think the author of Hebrews expressly pointed out sexual issues and bitterness as evidence of untrustworthiness?
- How has endurance training benefited you?

Integration

(You can ask any of the questions from the previous sections)

- What was your reaction when you heard the integration focus?
- What do you think about the idea of giving God permission?

End of Meeting

- Would any veteran member like to share their experience of returning every year to the training?
